

Bachelor of Science in Cultural Psychology & Religious Studies

Ebed-Melech University offers a rigorous four-year program exploring the intersection between cultural psychology and religious studies. This B.S. program integrates diverse courses and emphasizes a scientific approach to understanding cultural nuances and religious perspectives.

Program Overview

120

Credit Hours

Complete curriculum designed for comprehensive learning

100%

Online

Fully flexible distance
learning format

4-8

Week Classes

Accelerated course
structure for faster
completion

3-4

Years

Program completion
timeframe

Foundation Year: Building Core Knowledge

Semester 1

- ENG 101 – English Composition I (3 credits)
- REL 101 – Introduction to World Religions (3 credits)
- PSY 101 – Introduction to Psychology (3 credits)
- MAT 105 – Fundamentals of Mathematics (3 credits)
- Elective Course (3 credits)

Semester 2

- HIS 110 – World History I (3 credits)
- ANT 120 – Cultural Anthropology (3 credits)
- PHI 210 – Philosophy of Ethics (3 credits)
- REL 120 – Foundations of Christian Faith (3 credits)
- Elective Courses (3 credits)

The first year establishes foundational knowledge across multiple disciplines, introducing students to core concepts in psychology, religion, anthropology, and ethics that will inform advanced study.

Intermediate Studies: Deepening Understanding

Semester 3

- LIT 201 – Literature and Spirituality
- PSY 220 – Cultural Psychology
- SOC 224 – Sociology of Religion
- CUL 301 – Cultural Perspectives on Religion
- Elective Courses

Semester 4

- ROM 301 – Organizational Behavior in Religious Settings
- PSY 308 – Cross-Cultural Psychology
- BCP 401 – Cultural Influences on Religious Beliefs
- BCP 403 – Religious Practices in Cultural Contexts
- Elective Courses

Years two and three focus on specialized coursework that bridges cultural psychology and religious studies, examining how culture shapes religious expression and belief systems across global contexts.

Advanced Coursework: Research & Application

01

Contemporary Issues

BCP 405 explores current challenges and developments in cultural psychology and religious studies

02

Advanced Topics

BCP 407 delves into specialized areas of study within the field

03

Research Methods

PSY 409 provides essential training in scientific research methodology

04

Practical Experience

INT 489 offers hands-on internship or research project opportunities

Semester 5: Research & Contemporary Issues

The fifth semester marks a critical transition to advanced study, combining contemporary issues analysis with rigorous research methodology training. Students engage with cutting-edge topics while developing the scientific skills necessary for independent inquiry.

- BCP 405 – Contemporary Issues in Cultural Psychology & Religious Studies (3 credits)
- BCP 407 – Advanced Topics in Cultural Psychology & Religious Studies (3 credits)
- PSY 409 – Research Methods (3 credits)
- INT 489 – Internship or Research Project (3 credits)
- Elective Courses (3 credits)

Semester 6: Global & Scientific Perspectives

Global Perspectives

BCP 413 examines culture and religion from international viewpoints, exploring diverse traditions worldwide

Scientific Approaches

BCP 415 applies scientific methodology to the study of religious phenomena and beliefs

Integrative Seminar

SEM 491 synthesizes learning across the program in a comprehensive 6-credit capstone experience

Semester 6 also includes major electives or concentration courses (3 credits), allowing students to specialize in areas of particular interest.

Final Year: Specialization & Capstone

Semester 7

Major Electives or Concentration Courses (15 credits) – Deep dive into specialized areas of study

Semester 8

Major Electives or Concentration Courses (9 credits) plus CAP 497 – Senior Project (6 credits)

The final year emphasizes specialization through electives and culminates in a comprehensive senior project that demonstrates mastery of program learning outcomes.

Your Journey Awaits

"And who knows but that you have come to your royal position for such a time as this?"

— Esther 4:14

This program prepares you to understand the profound connections between culture and religion, equipping you with scientific tools and global perspectives to make meaningful contributions in an increasingly interconnected world.

Begin Your Transformation

Comprehensive Curriculum

120 credit hours of integrated coursework spanning cultural psychology and religious studies

Flexible Learning

100% online format with accelerated 4-8 week classes designed for working professionals

Expert Faculty

Learn from scholars who bridge academic rigor with practical application in diverse cultural contexts

© 2025 Ebed-Melech University

